Permits for Stands.

Upon the suggestion of Capt. Beach, the Engineer Commissioner, the District Commissioners have authorized the chief of police to Issue permits for stands to be used for the sale of refreshments and soft drinks luring the peace jubilee. The stands are to be, of course, only temporary ones, and to be used only during the three days of be jubilee. It is believed by the Commis-ioners that the chief of police can decide hese matters better than the engineer department, by which office permits of this character are issued as a rule.

THE DECORATIONS

Business Houses on the Avenue Alive With Color.

FLAGS AND BUNTING EVERYWHERE

Treasury and War Department Buildings Handsomely Draped.

ILLUMINATIONS AT NIGHT

The star-studded sapphire field and the alternating stripes of crimson and snowy purity of the national ersign float lazily in the spring breezes that softly blow down the streets and avenues of Washington The nation's capital has put on its gala holiday dress, and throughout the downtown section the blended colors of red, white and blue, in flags, bunting, shields and vari-modeled emblems flare and flame enlivening and brightening the dull, cloudshaded atmosphere of the day. Along the beautiful sweep of Pennsylvania avenue, from the Capitol to the treasury, the fluttering colors reach as far as the vision carries. The broad thoroughfare is draped and decorated on either side with a lavish profusion, giving it indeed the appearance of the nation's highway.

Bright Color Effects.

Decorators have been busy in Washingon for the past week. Their work is nearly complete, and is apparent on every side. The avenue is not alone in its profusion of brigh color effects.

F street, from 15th to 6th streets, is one mass of flags and patriotic draperies, while 7th street is a veritable midway of flashing, flying insignia of the nation. Other pareets eading to and from these central thorough-fares present the same gay appearance, and there is everywhere a show of interest in making Wasnington, for the peace jubilee week, an attractive and beautiful flag-bedecked city. The decorations are on a scale suggestive of inauguration day. The largest draping concerns of the United States have had agents and representatives in the city, and their taste and skill shows in the graceful folds and hangings of the gay colrs honored in the emblem of the country From sky-reaching staffs the flags are lisplayed, while hanging from balconies and draped along portions smaller editions of the ersign and bunting are tucked and binned in a manner calculated to give the nost effective results. Long streamers of the flags of different nations, giving additional tone to the American red, white and blue, ead to the peak of the staff on many build-

A notable feature of the peace jubilee ecorations of Washington is the reappearance of the Spanish flag, three or four business men being daring and magnanimous enough to float the yellow and red of the defeated enemy alongside the spangled ban-ner of the victors. Large English flags have a prominent part in a number of the more elaborate front decorations, while in a few the flags of other regions. a few the flags of other nations as well may be noticed.

Two Government Buildings.

Two of the government departments have een made specially attractive through the medium of American flags. At the War Department the balconies are draped in with Spain, are to be seen, flag-draped, it many of the schemes of decoration. The The Maine is pictured in one very effective display of color, while in another is the bat-tle between the Merrimac and Monitor, the relation of this picture to the present celebration being rather obscure it is true. Lincoln, Grant nad President McKinley are popular in the decorations, the latter ranking next to Dewey in the general display of painting which were hurriedly prepared for the occasion. Illuminations at Night.

While the national colors will flash brilliantly in the light of the day, the night will be by no means black and without effect. Patriotic devices in electric lights of varied colors have been arranged by a number of the hotels and business houses A few buildings will have their outlines shown in incandescedent effects during the gala nights of the jubilee, while the decorated fronts of a large proportion of the buildings in the central portion of the city in graceful manner have been largely will be provided with arc lights to increase the effect of the patriotic hangings. Many beautiful window decorations are to be seen throughout the business quarter, Silken flags of various sizes and arranged A very pretty arrangement is the fluttering flag fanned by the artificial breezes of a hidden electric fan. The florists have not been behind in the matter of decoration. eagle perched in the center of a red. white and blue, floral wreath of heroic pro-portions, is the very attractive window show of one F street dealer in flowers. The display of flags for the jubilee is as pretty and profuse as has ever been seen n the capital city. The merchants have been most liberal in this direction, and the result is beautiful. Vehicles of various descriptions have also been draped in bunting and flagstaff by their owners. They add much to the gen-eral scene of color as they flash in and out of the every-day traffic of the busier in the Principal Cities.

A committee of special examiners from the pension office is now on an inspection tour of the principal cities, checking up the pension agencies. At the present time this committee is in New York. Already a number of irregularities have been discovered and frauds uncarthed. The object of the efficial visit is not especially to hunt up frauds, but to see that the pension agency is working smoothly. This investigation s working smoothly. This investigation rings to light frauds and they are systematically run down.

TO MARK GRIDLEY'S GRAVE. Four Cannon From Manila to Be Sent

Four guns captured by the American forces in Manila, which were brought to the United States by the cruiser Buffalo. are to be sent to Erie, Pa., to mark the grave of Capt Gridley, who was in com-mand of the flagship Olympia during the battle of May 1, 1898. The guns are now at the New York navy yard.

A NAVAL ACADEMY GRADUATE.

One Who Has Received Certificate, but Has Not Gone to Sea. Solicitor General Richards has rendered an opinion on the naval personnel act, in which he holds that a naval cadet who has finished the four years' course at the Naval Academy and had received a certificate of graduation therefrom, but who resigned. without serving the required two years at sea, to enlist for service in the war with Spain, should be deemed "a graduate of the Naval Academy" within the meaning of section 20 of the act, and therefore may be appointed a commissioned officer in the Marine Corps.

The national peace jubilee celebration will be interestingly reported in The Evening Star. All issues of the jubilee week will be mailed to any address in the United States for 13 cents.

BOYS IN A BULL FIGHT CHEERY PIPE OF BOB WHITE

Amateur Matadors Unable to Elude the | Plentiful Consignments of Western Quail for Beast's Attacks.

Caught on the Animal's Horns They Both Narrowly Escape Being Killed.

CHICAGO, May 22.-Englewood had a real bull fight Sunday, and the matadors, two boys, Willie Reinig and George Jessup, narrowly escaped with their lives. For some time the two boys have been reading Spanish literature teiling of bull fights, and they concluded they wanted to be matadors and receive the plaudits of their friends.

It was decided that twenty boys should be let into the secret, and they were told the contest would take place on Sunday. Promptly the invited guests and the principals put in an appearance at the pasture where the fight was to take place. Reinig was armed with an old sword, while Jessup had manufacured a sword out of an old corn knife. With these weapons the boys proposed to vanquish the bull. Reinig having the best weapon, claimed the right to the first tilt with the beast. He had gone but a little way when the animal charged upon him. He jumped aside and made a thrust with his sword. The Department the balconies are draped in the immense ensigns owned by the army. The flags there have been hung with excellent taste. The Treasury Department is one mass of flags, all of the great pillars of the historic building being dressed in the clinging folds of a large flag, while the coping or ledge of the roof is strung with the same generous abundance of national emblems. These two buildings flank the court of honor, which is nearing completion, and their draping will add to the general effect of the patriotic scene in this vicinity.

He had gone but a nitic way when the animal charged upon him. He jumped aside and made a thrust with his sword. The point stuck into the ribs of the lanimal, and, with a roar, it turned and dashed back upon the boy matador. The onslaught was too much for Reinig's prowess, and he young Reinig's father, Henry Savage and George McCleilan, who were coming to in-spect the herd. The three men ran to the field, and, after some difficulty, succeeded in rescuing Reinig. Both boys were taken home and a doctor was called, who said the injuries were serious, but not necessarily

leged Faulty Construction. It is more than probable that the report made to the District Commissioners by Mr. John B. Brady, inspector of buildings, in answer to the one submitted to the Commissioners by the committee on biuldings and repairs of the board of school trustees, on the condition of the school buildings, will not be made public. It is also probable that the Commissioners will dispose of the matter by advising the school board that steps be taken to remove all grounds of complaint hereafter in the matter of defective construction of school buildings and their dilapidation. It will be recalled that the school board ommittee, of which Trustee George H. Harries is chairman, reported to the board that the Johnson School, at Mt. Pleasant, the Western High School, and several other school buildings were found by the com-mittee to have been in the first place badly constructed, and then permitted to become unnecessarily dilapidated. The committee's report was referred by the Commissioners to the building inspector, who submitted in answer thereto, as was stated in The Star at the time, a most voluminous report. That report has never been made public, and its contents, it is understood, never been made known to the school board or its committee. It is now stated that it will be either returned to Mr. Brady or else so amended as to remove from it all mat-ters which might, if published or forwarded to the school board, prolong the controversy. As has been stated by Trustee Harries, the report of his committee was not designed or intended as an attack on the inspector of buildings, as some of the friends of the latter seem to have believed, nor as a criticism of the Commissioners, but merely made to invite the attention of the Commissioners to the conditions which prevailed, that steps might be taken to correct them. It is therefore, believed that Mr. Brady's report will not be published, and that the school board will be informed by the Commissioners that steps have been taken and will be maintained to remove hereafter all cause for complaint.

the past four or five days have been surprised to hear the mellow call "Bob White" resound at frequent intervals, and upon insalute come from quails confined in crates at the stand of Mr. Walter S. Moreland and destined to replenish the depleted coverts in the vicinity of Washington. As well remembered, when the fierce blizzard of the winter was over, and it was learned that very few quaits in this vicinity had survived the storm, local sportsmen who are votaries of the gun and dog, and know the keen delights of a day in the stubble, took measures to secure birds elsewhere and liberate them in nearby Virginia and Maryland. Mr. Moreland, who is an ardent sportsman himself, came to their assist-ance with an offer to secure out west all birds needed, and supply them at actual cost with express rates added. He placed orders with Kansas trappers for 200 dozen

RETURN OF THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. McKinley Much Refreshed by His Outing. The President and Mrs. McKinley, with the friends who accompanied them, reached Washington at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. The stay of tweive days at Hot Springs was one almost entirely of rest. The outing has been of great benefit to the President, and he resumes his official duties thoroughly refreshed and invigorated. The train stopped just outside of the depot, where carped just outside of the depot, where car-riages awaited, and the members of the party were driven to their homes.

Those who returned with the President were Secretary Hitchcock, Adjutant Gen-eral Corbin, Controller of Currency and Mrs. Dawes, Dr. and Mrs. Rixey, Assistant Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Barnes of the White House force.

White House force. The President and Mrs. McKinley drove directly to the residence of Vice President Hobart before going to the White House, the President desiring to inquire after the Vice President's condition.

Secretary Alger was the first cabinet officer to call on the President. He discussed briefly the subject of Cuban arms, and, having decided what reply to send to General Brooke, went over to the War Department. Secretary Alger, accompa-nied by Mrs. Alger, left on the 7:20 train over the Pennsylvania road to visit a daughter at Harrisburg. After dinner Sec-retary Long and Postmaster General and

The party traveled Saturday slowly through the Shenandoah valley, rich in beautiful scenery and points of historic interest. Thirty-five years ago Mr. McKin-ley, as assistant adjutant general on the staff of General Crook, marched through this same valley, participating in the heavy fighting which occurred during Sheridan's famous raid. A great crowd awaited the President at Winchester. Assurances had been sent ahead that a stop would be made and that if time permitted the President and party would drive through the town and pay a visit to Hiram Lodge, in which President visit to Hiram Lodge, in which President McKinley was initiated as a Mason. The ladies of the party remained on the train, while the President, Secretary Hitchcock, General Corbin and others of the gentlemen entered the carriages and were driven to Hiram Lodge. The lodge now occupies a building some distance from the site of the old lodge. The President was received by Chaplain Hyde, Worshipful Master Willis and others at the lodge. From this point of interest the party was driven through the principal streets of Winchester out to the national cemetery. The superintendent of the cemetary met the President and es-corted him to where many of his old regi-Baltimore, Md., for temporary recruiting ment were buried and to other portions o

From there the party went to Mount Hebron cemetery and visited the graves of the confederate dead. Returning to the train the great crowd had again assem-bled, and as the special moved away greeted it with prolonged cheering. which Hiram Lodge occupied when Presi-dent McKinley was initiated in the order of Masons is now a small dilapidated two story yellow-painted brick building, the lower floor of which is used as a negro barber shop and the upper as living apartments.

Recital at Falls Church. A recital was given Friday evening by the Misses Anna Belle Gray and Lillian I.

Christman at Odd Fellows' Hall, Falls Church, Va., for the benefit of the Episcopal Church of that place. Miss Grav for several years has been an instructor at the Martyn College of Acting, and her work last night was well executed. Miss Christman is also well known, a graduate of Mar-tyn College. She delivered with great ef-fect all her dramatic pieces and showed her versatility by her lighter selections. The program, which consisted of dramatic and humorous numbers, pantomimes, scenes, &c., was interspersed with musical selections, the participants being Miss Fanny Washington, the Misses Virginia and Beatrice Goodwin and Miss Jessie Grav The hall was entirely filled, the majority being Washington people, special cars conveying them from and to the city.
